Morehead City Mayor Jerry Jones Says Jib Project Underway

John Nelson had the program last week. His guest speaker was Morehead City Mayor Jerry Jones. Jerry gave a brief update on the Jib Project—a plan to redesign the Big Rock Tournament weigh off area. Jerry said there isn't enough money to complete the project as planned. The contractor has been asked to be more efficient in the design. The original estimated cost was almost $410,000; however, the total projected cost is now $630,000. Recently, the board of the Big Rock Tournament awarded the city a $50,000 grant to help make up the difference. The city will try to close the gap by selling imprinted tiles and using different materials for the project.
