“Warriors of Carteret County” Exhibit Created To Honor Men & Women Who Served During Wartime

Dick Rogers had the program last week. His guest speaker was Cindi Hamilton, director of the History Place, who introduced two volunteers, Steve Anderson and Michelle Powers, who are currently planning and constructing a new exhibit entitled: “Warriors of Carteret County.” The new exhibit will honor former service men and women who served in the armed forces during World Wars I & II, Korean War, Vietnam War and modern wars (Bosnia through Afghanistan and Iraq)

Steve Anderson, the primary spokesman for the group, has worked for several museums throughout the United States. He has a wealth of experience in projects of this nature thus making him the ideal person to create the new Warrior Exhibit currently under construction at the History Place. Steve’s Warrior Exhibit will pay tribute to the county’s past and present servicemen and women in the Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force, Seabees and Coast Guard. The exhibit includes identified images of many soldiers, marines and sailors who lived, worked or retired to Carteret County.

The exhibit is built along a straight hallway that is located behind the primary exhibition area. Flags from each branch of service will fly over each display. At the end of the Warriors of Carteret County, nearest the modern warfare section, will be a “yellow ribbon” wall that will provide family members a place to mark those absent who are currently serving in Afghanistan and elsewhere around the world.

Museum patrons will be invited to “write in” individuals’ names they feel have been overlooked, thus creating an additional interactive aspect to add to the exhibition.

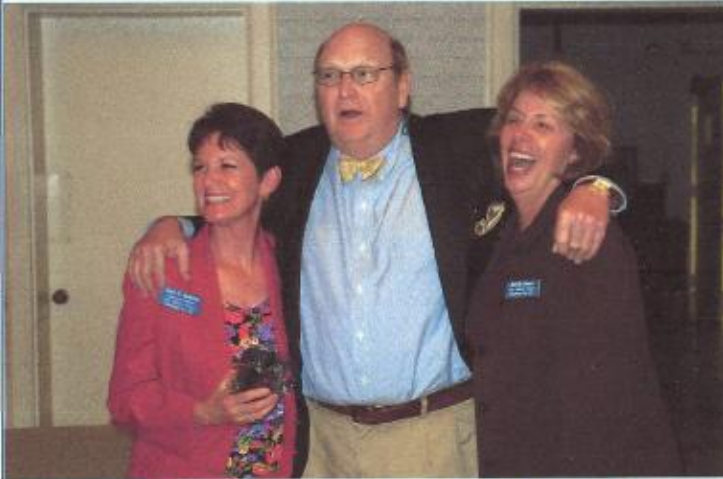

Cindi said the Warrior Exhibit will take several months to complete. Steve is volunteering his services to the project and will work until it is finished. During his spare time, Steve writes biographies and articles about museum management.

The Four-Way Test

1. Is it the TRUTH?
2. Is it FAIR to all concerned?
3. Will it build GOOD WILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?
4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?
