Did You Know That North Carolina's State Dog Is a Plott Hound?

North Carolina designated the Plott Hound as the official state dog in 1989. Developed in the mountains of North Carolina by German immigrant Jonathan Plott around 1750 as a wild boar hound, the plott hound is a legendary hunting dog known as a courageous fighter and tenacious tracker with a spine-tingling, bugle-like call. One of only four breeds known to be of American origin (the American Kennel Club recognized the plott hound as a distinctive breed in 1998). Winn said, "The Plott Hound is athletic, muscular, and agile in appearance with a smooth, dense coat in almost any shade of brindle (sometimes with small white patches on the feet, chest, and underbelly). Plott Hounds are eager to please, loyal, intelligent, and alert. They are aggressive, bold, and fearless hunters described as "the ninja warriors of dogdom".

They're always cute when they are puppies, but later?

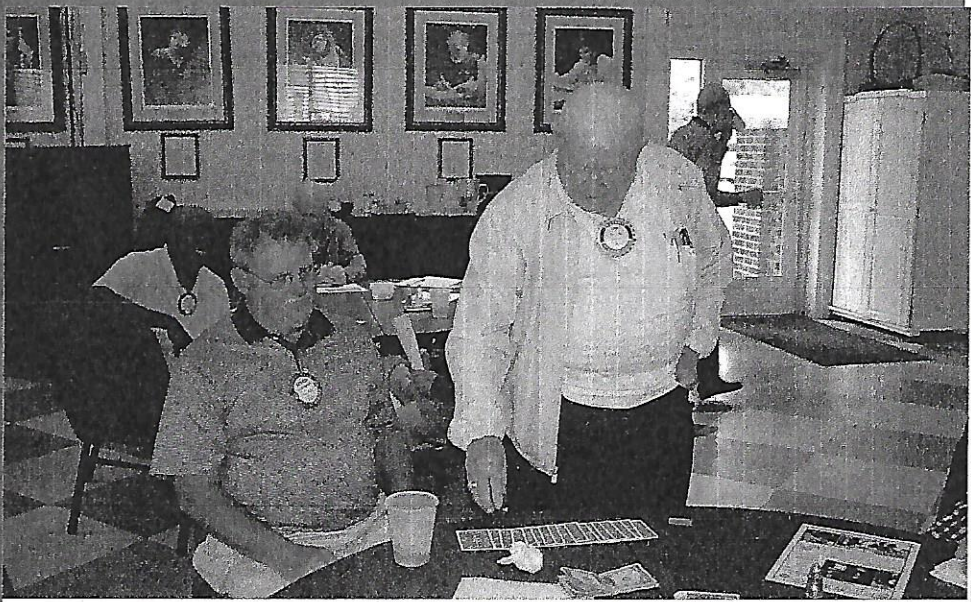

Shelby Freeman
has the program tonight.

It's That Time of Month Again: David Hall passes out statements of dues. Ouch! Do I owe that MUCH?

Earl Lewis tries his luck, but again the Ace of Spades is elusive.

Time to Review Club's Constitution

Durin the last Board of Directors' meeting, the club's constitution was discussed. The Board decided to adopt the Standard Rotary Constitution as found in the Manual of Proceudue. Tonight copies of the constitution will be circulated among member and a vote will be taken in two weeks to determine if club members want to accept this STANDARD constitution or if they wish to amend it. Read it carefully.

The Four-Way Test

1. Is it the TRUTH?
2. Is it FAIR to all concerned?
3. Will it build GOOD WILL and BETTER FRIENDSHIPS?
4. Will it be BENEFICIAL to all concerned?
