South Sudan Gains Independence But Many Difficult Issues Still Remain Unresolved

Council Renfrow had the program last week. His guest speaker was Lt. Col. Rett Newton, Ret. who spoke about the plight of South Sudan and the "lost boys of Sudan," a name given to the groups of over 20,000 boys of the Nuer and Dinka ethnic groups who were displaced and/or orphaned during the Second Sudanese Civil War (1983–2005); about 2.5 million were killed and millions were displaced. The name "Lost Boys of Sudan" was colloquially used by aid workers in the refugee camps where the boys resided in Africa. About 3,800 of the lost boys were resettled in America. Some adapted well to their new country and other did not fare so well. In January 2011, 99% of the South Sudanese voted to separate from the north and become an independent nation. Some American former Lost Boys now hold positions in the current Government of South Sudan.
