Carteret County History Place in Good Hands with New Director at the Helm

Steve Anderson, director of the History Place, was last week's guest speaker. Steve spoke about his involvement in creating the Warriors of Carteret County exhibit. The exhibit was initiated with no funding and completed on a shoestring budget. Most of the materials that went into the construction of the exhibit were scrounged by Steve and the rest were funded by donations from the community. The exhibit features men and women from Carteret County who served in wars fought by the United States beginning with World War I. Objects in the exhibit range from battle dress uniforms to medals and awards received by men who fought in the conflicts depicted in the exhibit.
