Bill Ward, Director of Community Relations for Carteret-Craven Electric Cooperative
Discusses Wind, Solar and Fossil Fuel Energy

"The cost of energy is going up," said Bill Ward, Director of Community Relations for Carteret-Craven Electric Cooperative. "A kilowatt of electricity now cost between 10-11 cents. But it will go up considerably in years to come. Energy costs more. Wind and solar energy are not cost effective at this time. Not only are they not cost effective, they are not practical in the area yet because we do not have the infrastructure to support them. Wind and energy are a hard sell. People do not want wind turbines springing up on the mountains and on the coast of North Carolina because they feel they destroy the natural beauty and wildlife of our state. But if we want to assure an abundant supply of energy for the future, we must meet the challenge ...and soon.
